FIREFIGHTERS WIN

A real brush fire goes on parade in Marion as the Marion Firefighters float rolls by. This spectacular effect took first civic prize for floates in the Tri-Town parade.

REDMEN FLOAT

Winner of second prize in the civic category was this Indian village manned by the Improved Order of Redmen.

MISS WAREHAM

PATRIOTIC WINNER

New Bedford's Post 1 American Legion's float was first prize winner in the patriotic class. The colorful float was manned by youngsters dressed in costumes representing the areas of Legion service to the nation.

6-1-1. To see such unity in a group so large has been a wonderful example to all who have been fortunate enough to be close to them. Their last game was a disaster - completely beyond their control - this was a heart-breaking experience for them but they came out of that game standing "ten feet tall"!

The Boosters' Club hopes that this gentle reminder will be taken in the spirit in which it is given. Please call Mrs. Robert Gardner at 758-6061; or Mrs. Bus Mullane at 758-6369 and reserve your tickets. You'll have a wonderful night!

RECALLS ANNIVERSARY

The VFW float of Marion reminds viewers that this is the 50th anniversary of the World War I Armistice - the original meaning of Veterans' Day.

"BLUES, BALLADS AND GUITARS"

The Marion Art Center will present a night of "Blues, Ballads and Guitars" on Friday, November 22nd, at 8:00. It will feature Maggi Ker-Pierce, Larry Hegele, Nonnie Pennington, Jimmy Maciel and Barbara Carns.

Those who have been fortunate enough to hear the wonderfully rich voice of Barbara Carns in performance before know the magic she produces. From woeful blues to hand-clapping spirituals her renditions evoke a mood not easily dispelled.

For the Art Center production the group will be doing sea chanties, ballads, blues, spirituals and contemporary songs, both as a group and singly. In addition Maggi Ker-Pierce will perform some of her Irish, Scottish, Dutch and German songs.

Due to a limited number of seats it is suggested that reservations be made well in advance by calling the Marion Art Center (748-1266), Mrs. Graham Campbell (748-1485), or Mrs. George Carns in New Bedford (992-0894).

The Tower of Strength

"HISTORY OF FORT PHOENIX" BY

Donald R. Bernard

In the present township of Fairhaven stands a former government fortress known to most area residents as Fort Phoenix. To most of these residents a true and factual history of this Fort is but little known. It is the intent of this writer to make known some of the factual history this fort possess.

Following the great Indian era in Eastern Massachusetts when the town of Fairhaven was then a part of the township known as Dartmouth, which also included New Bedford, Acushnet and Westport, stands Fort Phoenix, which was known to the Indians as Nolscot Point. Standing atop the present fort ramparts and looking to the east for about two-three hundred yards away stood the first known fort on this side of the Acushnet River. Historians have probed the history of this fort which was erected on "Love Rock", or as older residents may recall, where the government erected "beacon" stood. Papers refer to this fort as "ruin". But it is not clear if it was its name or its condition. But in any case it was constructed of mud and twigs and believed to be used in defense against hostile Indian attacks from the outer harbor. As peace returned between the white man and Indian, there no longer was the need of such a fort. The fort was abandoned and the ravages of time and extreme weather conditions took its toll and removed all traces of this fort from the ledges of the south end of town.

While the colonists were feeling the great impact of the heavy burden of taxes levied by the crown, and unable to manufacture their own goods, unrest and contempt seemed to be the order of the day. The town of Dartmouth was unquestionably loyal toward the cause of independence. But, in the village of Bedford (New Bedford) many known Tories lived. (Tories were people who were in sympathy with the crown). They took little active part in support of the patriotic cause. In fact, they quite openly tried to curb the topic throughout the colonies, secret meetings were being held in the backrooms of stores, shops and in private homes. There was the everpresent fear of exposure by Tories who were often among such groups. In Fairhaven the construction of a second fort was started which was located about 80-100 feet to the west of "Love Rock" or beacon. The construction of this fort was witnessed by a Mr. Charles Eldridge and was completed in the same year, 1775. This fort, like its counterpart to the east, proved to be impracticable because of its construction of mud and twigs. After a few test volleys the idea was quickly abandoned.

The village of Fairhaven and Bedford Harbor were still helplessly exposed to attack from the seaward. Finally, just prior to July in the year 1775, the legislature agreed to the construction of a fort for the defense of Bedford Harbor and vicinity, and it was further agreed that the fort would be situated on Nolscot Point in Fairhaven. Entrusted in overseeing the construction of this fort was Captain Benjamin Dillingham and Eleazer Hathaway. Work was started prior to June, 1775, and took two years to build. The material for its construction was taken from the same vein of ledge upon which the fort rests.

ROCHESTER TAX RATE - $100.

ROCHESTER, November 15, 1968: The Town of Rochester could have a $100 per thousand assessed valuation by the year 1973. The committee consisting of members of each town board have been studying local and regional school needs, building and population trends. The committee has researched past data concerning population growth and school costs plus other town costs. We are all currently aware of our present day costs. The committee has analyzed past and present data and projected this into our future requirements.

The committee now requests you, the taxpayer of the town of Rochester, to take time out from your busy schedule. We ask you to attend a special public hearing to be held at the Rochester Memorial School on Monday, November 25th, 1968. Meeting to begin at 8:00 P.M.

At this time the various committees will graphically present our future needs. Future needs will then be related to our tax rate. Several proposals for meeting these future needs will be presented. We ask you, the taxpayer, to support the committee in this segment of the meeting. We desire to know your sentiments and opinions to our proposals. We hope that after hearing our needs you may be able to offer possible remedial proposals that we, the committee, have not considered.

This public meeting has been called in order that you may be aware of the financial problems facing your town and, in the final analysis, your personal financial position. A public meeting of this type will permit you, the taxpayer, to express yourself without the curtailments involved in a regular town meeting under strict parliamentary procedures.

The committee consists of Mr. C. Condit Pierce and Mr. Frederick Underhill, Jr. of your School Committee; Mr. George Church of the Rochester Board of Assessors; Mr. James Gurney of the Town Planning Board; Mr. Henry Smith and Mr. Frederick Underhill of the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Harry A. Brown, Jr. will act as Moderator of the meeting.

Please make every effort to attend this most important meeting. Remember the date--November 25, 1968, 8:00 P.M. at the Rochester Memorial School.

portunities to be integrated in home economics classes and family living instructional classes.

Mr. Perry also spoke of the trends in special education, laws, parent orientation and the need for more parent understanding. He felt too that teachers in normal classrooms should be aware of the needs of these special children. In the field of qualifications for teachers of special education Mr. Perry stated personality was very important.

Among the ways the schools themselves could help would be to have an individual guidance counselor and job placement helper. A plan of part-time school and part-time work program could be arranged in many instances. Mr. Perry remarked that many of these children could go out and work for several hours if there were transportation and supervision available. The need for more and earlier testing would be of great value in identifying the problems, resulting in more being done to help solve them. An intermediate Special Education class to handle children ages 12 through 14 is greatly needed at this time also.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Richard Threlfall. An announcement was made of the increase of enrollment in the school for exceptional children in Wareham. There is room for additional children ages 3 through 7 only. Mrs. Threlfall may be contacted for further information.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, December 4th, at 8 P.M. at the home of Mrs. Lester Texeira, Park Street, Matta-

TEACHER SPEAKS TO GROUP

William Perry, teacher of Special Education at Old Rochester Regional High School, spoke to members of the Parents and Friends of Handicapped and Retarded Children group at the home of Mrs. Dennis Sylvia in Mattapoisett.

The fact that these children should be integrated into regular classrooms was stressed by Mr. Perry. There are some steps being made in this direction, however, they are being done too slowly. He would also like to see the children participate more in all school activities.

The instructor noted there is much that can be done for these special student if, and when, they are allowed to work in school "shops", making furniture and doing types of metal work. There is a need for more help, especially in art. Girls should have more op-
